

Telehealth HEALTHCARE REDEFINED: ANYTIME , ANYWHERE

Telehealth is the use of digital information and communication technologies (videoconferencing, the internet, store-and-forward imaging, streaming media, wireless communications) to access health care services remotely.

The new bill "Telehealth Services During Certain Emergency Periods Act of 2020", authorizes $8.3 billion in emergency aid and $490 million to allow Medicare providers to administer telehealth services for patients to receive care at home amidst the novel coronavirus.
